JESUS FOLLOWERS LONG
FOR THE KINGTHE COMING KING

Write down different truths about King Jesus on small cards and then hide them throughout your house. Each day this week, help your child find one of the hidden cards and then discuss the truth on the card. Some truths could be, He is wise, He is all-powerful, or He brings peace. Remind your child that Jesus came as the Messiah and He is coming again to rule on earth as He does in Heaven.

Isaiah 9:1-7.

THINK ABOUT IT: (Use the commentary to reinforce the Big Truth.)

Long before Jesus was born in a manger, sin entered God's perfect, very good world and broke it. The world and people have lived in darkness and in their hearts long for the true light. Isaiah foretells the coming of the Deliverer when he describes the coming Messiah. He describes the Son who would deliver His people from the darkness of sin and come as the great Rescuer. This baby would be God Himself coming to live among His people. He brought joy to the world because sin would no longer reign supreme in the hearts of men. King Jesus did come and He conquered sin, death, and hell, setting the captives free. He brought peace to the world because His death removed the separation between man and God. Through Jesus' birth, life, and death, He made a way for men to be saved from their sin. God's people longed for the coming Messiah and His people long for His return today. We long for the true King who is the better King. King Jesus rules in wisdom and might. He is the perfect King who is sovereign over all things. This means He has all power and control. Today, we long for His return when He will deliver us all from the oppression of sin in the world and He will usher in eternity.

TALK ABOUT IT: (Use the questions to discuss the Big Truth)

- Why did people long for the coming Messiah? (They were oppressed and wanted deliverance from their oppression. They desired to be rescued.)
- Why do God's people long for His return today? (We long for His return because sin rules in the world and we long for Him to rule and reign for all of eternity.)

As a family, memorize Isaiah 9:6 by creating word art from the verse. Write it on a piece of construction paper and spend time as a family decorating it. Put it up in your house when you're finished and spend time each day saying it together.

Let your child help you plan and prepare a special meal to celebrate the birth of Jesus. Allow your child to be a part of choosing the foods you will serve and during the meal take turns naming some of the ways Jesus' birth brings you awe and wonder.

Spend time baking Christmas treats and allowing your child to help you. Next, deliver the treats to your neighbors and friends. As you deliver them, talk with your child about how King Jesus is our deliverer and He brings peace with Him and salvation to the world.

As a family spend time thinking of people who do not know Jesus. Pray for opportunities to share the truth about Jesus with them.
